

IMDb

Jay Rosenzweig

Executive Producer

Superpower

Jay Rosenzweig is an internationally renowned social impact entrepreneur, humanitarian, trained lawyer, and leadership strategist & film producer.

Rosenzweig is an Executive Producer on Sean Penn & Aaron Kaufman's new film, Superpower, about Volodymyr Zelenskyy. He also stars in the new Amazon Prime series NFTme.

The founder of Rosenzweig & Company, Rosenzweig is an expert in designing, building and attracting world class teams. He consults to public and private companies, including large global corporations; emerging growth to mid-sized businesses; professional services firms; and private equity and venture capital firms. He invests in and advises several leading edge tech companies across North America and beyond.

Rosenzweig has been immersed global human rights causes for well over two decades, and has been internationally recognized for the Annual Rosenzweig Report on equality, which he has published for the past 18 years. Rosenzweig's Annual Report has received endorsements and contributions from a wide range of leaders and personalities such as Justin Trudeau, Alyssa Milano, Sheryl Sandberg, Mark Cuban, Deepak Chopra, Van Jones, Zainab Salbi, CEO's and Board Chairs of major corporations, and several other artists, humanitarians, politicians and business leaders.

He is the Chair of the Board of Irwin Cotler's Raoul Wallenberg Centre For Human Rights. In addition, he sits on a number of other purpose driven boards supporting causes ranging from health care, youth empowerment, refugee protection, and anti-gun violence. Rosenzweig is an outspoken advocate against Antisemitism, racism and all forms of hate and discrimination. He invests in businesses whose mission is to foster a world that gives equal opportunities for all, including greater access to education, capital and mobility.

Rosenzweig's work has been featured in several publications, including Forbes, The New York Times, Fast Company, The Guardian, Business Insider, Mashable, BNN Bloomberg, Cheddar, Bold TV, Digital Trends, Business Rockstars, Globe & Mail, National Post, Toronto Star, Huffington Post, and Thrive Global.

He earned three degrees at McGill University: Philosophy, Civil Law, and Common Law. In addition, he completed the Harvard Law School Negotiation Program, taught by expert negotiator Roger Fisher, author of Getting To Yes.

Rosenzweig is an avid songwriter, having collaborated with a number of well-known recording artists.